

1) Natural Born Citizen and Naturalized Citizen Explained

<https://publiushuldah.wordpress.com/2016/02/11/natural-born-citizen-and-naturalized-citizen-explained/>

2) Natural born citizen status is inherited – it’s not bestowed by the Constitution or Acts of Congress

3) What is a Natural Born Citizen?

Emer de Vattel did NOT coin the term "natural born citizen" in Law of Nations, he wrote in French of "the naturals, or indiges". Blackstone describes "natural born ...

youtube.com

4) Defining Natural-Born Citizen by P.A. MADISON on November 18th, 2008 <http://www.federalistblog.us/2008/11/natural-born-citizen-defined/>

5) <http://legalinsurrection.com/2013/09/natural-born-citizens-marco-rubio-bobby-jindal-ted-cruz/>

The modifier “natural born” is not used anywhere else in the Constitution, and its precise origins are unclear, although it is assumed to be derived in some manner from the British common and statutory law governing “natural born Subjects.”

There are two ends of the spectrum as which just about everyone agrees: (1) A person born in the United States to parents both of whom are United States citizens is a “natural born Citizen”; and (2) a person born outside the United States to parents neither of whom is a United States citizen is not a “natural born Citizen” even if citizenship later is obtained through naturalization. These are what law professor Lawrence Solum refers to as “cases of inclusion and exclusion.”

Rubio, Jindal and Cruz, as did Obama, fall between those points of inclusion and exclusion. Rubio and Jindal were born in the United States to parents neither of whom was a United States citizen at the time; Cruz was born in Canada to parents one of whom (his mother) was a United States citizen.

Under the law existing at the time of their birth, each became a citizen of the United States at birth. Rubio and Jindal by the 14th Amendment, Cruz by statute.

6) U.S. Code › Title 8 › Chapter 12 › Subchapter III › Part I › § 1401

7) Cruz vs. Trump: Constitutionally who’s a natural born Citizen?

By RD Skidmore, Niagara Falls Reporters, on JANUARY 22, 2016

www.niagarafallsreporter.com/1016-2

8) Ted Cruz: Neither a Natural Born Citizen Nor “TrusTed”

By Mario Apuzzo, Esq. on March 5, 2016

<http://puzo1.blogspot.com/2016/03/ted-cruz-neither-natural-born-citizen.html>

For more information on the internet, entering the following on your search line:
Natural-Born Citizen by P.A. MADISON